Win a $1,000 WAR BOND

59 OTHER PRIZES

Act Now--
Contest Closes Oct. 31

Enter this easy contest—all you have to do is write a letter on "5 Ways to Make My Community Better."

Does your town square need cleaning up? Do you need a new auditorium? What should your town do now, so that your young people—when they come home from the war—will want to stay and work and build for your community?

These are the sort of questions every community must answer—sooner or later. Send in your ideas on what YOUR community must do, to make it a finer, better place in which to work and live.

Ask at our nearest store, or send QUICK, for the contest rules and free booklet, "A Wartime Program for Georgia's Peacetime Progress"—both are check-off of ideas and helpful suggestions for your letter.

Time is short—get busy NOW—try for a $1,000 War Bond. Remember, the contest closes October 31.

Brooklet Briefs

MRS. F. W. HUGHES, Reporter.

J. D. Alderman made a business trip to Jacksonville last week. Miss Dyna Simon is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bert Levine, in New York. Mrs. J. A. Powell, of Martinsburg, West Virginia, is visiting Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Watkins.

Mrs. G. G. Lincoln underwent a major operation in the Warren Candler Hospital in Savannah Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Cox and little son, Dannie, of Atlanta, visited Mrs. Cox's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Alderman, here this week.

Mrs. Cowart, of Claxton, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Parrish, is ill in the Bulloch County Hospital. A blood transfusion was given Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Mallard have recently purchased the brick hotel on the highway and will move there soon. It is understood they will operate a filling station and cafe.

Lt. and Mrs. James M. Warnock, of Fort Pierce, Fla., who have been visiting relatives here, left Wednesday for Bluffton, where they will stay a week in the R. H. Warnock cottage.

Tom Harvey, who recently sold out his business at Ed's Place here, has purchased the J. H. Wyatt home and will open up a grocery business in the J. W. Robertson store that is vacant at present.

Mrs. Carl Wynn and little son, Jerry, have returned to their home in Charleston, S. C., after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wyatt, and with Mrs. Elliott Brunson in Statesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Starling, of Savannah, announce the birth of a son on October 14 at St. Joseph's Hospital, Savannah. Mrs. Starling was remembered as Miss Cathryn Fordham, of this place.

Miss Carrie Bell Key, a popular member of the ninth grade, was the honoree at a lovely birthday party Saturday night. Outdoor games interspersed with wicker sandwiches made the occasion a happy one.

Miss Martha Lee Clark, a member of the ninth grade of the school here, underwent an appendix operation in the Bulloch County Hospital last week. She is rapidly improving. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Clark, of Brooklet.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Thompson had the misfortune to lose their home by fire last week. They were living on what is known as the old Helvetian plantation, which is owned by S. S. Cronley. A few household goods, and some clothing were saved. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is believed to have been set by rats in an upstairs room.

The Women's Society of Christian Service held a silver tea at the home of Mrs. J. H. Wyatt Monday afternoon. A lovely musical program, arranged by Mrs. W. D. Lee, Mrs. Hamp Smith and Mrs. W. B. Parrish, was an enjoyable feature. Those taking part on the program were Mrs. A. A. Watts, Mrs. J. H. Griffith, Mrs. John Rushing, Mrs. Grady Parrish Jr., Miss Mamie Lou Anderson, Mrs. Glenn Harper, Miss Ellen Parrish, Jimmie Lou Williams, Mrs. Joe Ingram and Mrs. T. R. Byrne Jr. Others present were Mrs. John A. Robertson, Mrs. Russel Rogers, Mrs. N. M. Kennedy, Mrs. Sam Lee, Mrs. J. N. Shearouse, Mrs. H. G. Parrish,

STATE GUARD HAS IMPORTANT TASK

Has Rendered Valuable Service In The Past To Regular Army Duties

Atlanta, Oct. 26.—"The Georgia State Guard has rendered much assistance in our War Emergency by guarding vital installations within the state," Major Hubert Pette, Fourth Service Command State Guard officer, said here today.

"This last spring when disaster in the form of a tornado visited a community in northern Georgia, the State Guardmen immediately went into action and showed that his previous training was very valuable to himself and his state as a whole.

"The civilian soldier of today willingly sacrifices his spare time to receive training that is a definite asset to the citizens of Georgia. The state of Georgia may well be proud of these civilian soldiers and may rest assured that they may depend on them to do a good job in case of need.

"The Georgia State Guard was organized in 1940 for the purpose of assuming the duties formerly performed by the National Guard.

"The commander-in-chief of the Georgia State Guard is Governor Ellis Gibbs Arnall. The commanding officer is Colonel B. W. Collins, a retired regular army officer who assumed his duties November 1, 1943. One of his first duties upon assuming command was the reorganization of the Guard.

"This State Guard, one of the largest in the United States, maintains units in practically every city in the state. Each man when he has completed his physical examination and enlistment papers satisfactorily is issued a complete uniform and the necessary equipment.

"In the ranks of the State Guard are found mechanics, mill workers, business and professional men, who devote some of their spare time in learning the normal duties that are required of a soldier.

"These civilian soldiers drill at their home armories at least one night each week. Often they spend week ends conducting field exercises in which they go through actual maneuvers in preparing themselves to accomplish any mission that may be assigned to them.

"Many Guardmen are veterans of World War I and we find that World War II veterans enlisting in the Guard upon discharge from the federal forces. These former veterans are a valuable asset to the Guard as their experience is very helpful in guiding the young recruit."

"Wood Highly Essential For Continuation of War Effort, Declares Phillips

Pointing out that wood plays an important part in our war efforts, J. E. Phillips, forester of the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, declared this week that "more ships are needed which require wood and more wooden crates for food and supplies are continuously needed to supply war requirements."

"The supply of timber is not the bottleneck in lumber production," he said, "as it has not been necessary for any patch of woods to supply so much lumber that it will be left in an unproductive condition. We will have a lot of mature or near-mature trees that can be cut to advantage," he added.

Woodlands in Georgia have been called upon to produce their share of the required wood. Mr. Phillips continued. Many patches of wood have been supplied more than their share.

"Over-cutting of Georgia's wood-land now will result in a most serious problem in our future supply of wood-land products," Mr. Phillips advised. Georgia farmers can aid the war effort now and protect the future timber by cutting and replanting their own timber when possible during slack periods, cutting only the larger trees for sawlogs and thinning thick places for sawlogs or pulpwood and keeping fire out of the woodland.

We on this ship did not see a single enemy plane, although some were reported near. I am sure that our "air umbrella" took care of the enemy planes before they came near enough to even get a good look at us.

During the landing of the troops from our ship we did not have a single casualty. Our landing boats did a wonderful job in hitting the exact pre-determined spot on the beach.

There was so much smoke and dust on the beaches that the best coxswain had to guess at the spot that they were to hit and they were very good at it.

We were able to get our ship un-loaded in one day and left that area before nightfall for the return. We did not have any idea as to when we will be coming home again, but we do know that the completion of this operation is one good big milestone that is passed.

We are all anxious to get back again so that we can have a more picnic and swimming parties. We are all promised an extra treat or two in our picnic parties, and that sounds plenty good to most of the men.

TO SELL COTTON BY GRADE AND STAPLE

Two Government Programs Aid Cotton Marketing In Substantial Manner

Two government programs calculated to aid farmers in marketing their cotton to the best advantage give Georgia farmers their best opportunity to sell cotton on the basis of grade and staple. E. C. Westbrook, cotton specialist of the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, declared this week.

One is the government loan program in which farmers may borrow on their cotton up to 95 per cent of its value, he continued. The other is the cotton purchase and sales program in which farmers may sell their cotton for 100 per cent of parity. Information regarding these two programs can be obtained from county agents, ginners and vocational teachers.

"Announcement of the two government programs has had a very wholesome effect on cotton prices so many farmers, no doubt, will prefer to sell their cotton to local buyers rather than to take advantage of the government programs," Mr. Westbrook asserted. "If prices for cotton on local markets are about the same as those in the government program it would seem desirable to sell on the local market."

Mr. Westbrook suggested that farmers use government programs only when it is profitable to do so. "Cotton fifteen-sixteenths to one and one-thirty second-inch and longer, farmers may find it more profitable to get in the government program."

The government does not recognize split grades. The cotton trade does. Therefore, farmers may be able to sell 'bright' strict low middling grade on the local market for a better price than they would be able to get in the government programs."

The Extension specialist advised farmers to obtain complete information regarding the amounts of money they can get for their cotton in the government programs and on the local market and use whatever outlet will give the largest net returns.

It is permitted to state that among those beneficiaries are many of the most important manufacturers in the entire nation, many of these developments being intimately connected with potential war materials.

The mills were grinding out the completed paper at the moment of our arrival. We saw carried from the raw material through all the processes to completion of the cotton stalks, oak logs, pine wood, bamboo and various hard woods, coming into our own hands the completed sheets of paper.

Register School To Sponsor Carnival

Registrar's biggest, breeziest and best Halloween carnival will hold away Tuesday evening, October 31, in the gymnasium from 8:00 to 11:00 o'clock EWT. Competition is keen for king and queen of the carnival as well as for places of honor filled by grammar school pupils.

"Sharing America" will be the theme of the program for the evening. This will include song and dance numbers and also some pageant and tableaux.

Following the program, "Bulloch County's Jolliest Midway" will entice young and old to share the fun and frolic of the evening. Candidates for king and queen of the carnival are John Ed Brannen and Mary Manuol from the eleventh grade, Bernard Oliver and Martha Williams from the tenth grade, W. J. Harris and Betty Donaldson from the ninth grade, and John Parrish and Carolyn Bohler from the eighth grade. Candidates for maid of honor are Bonnie Allen, seventh grade, and Uldine Underwood from the sixth grade; for junior maid of honor are Annie June Harris, fourth grade, and Henriette Gaskin, fourth grade. Candidates for mascot are Carolyn Wilson, third grade; Jimmie Bowen, second grade, and Kenneth Boswell, first grade.

The carnival is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association. The proceeds of the evening will be used toward completing the gymnasium and installing showers and a system of flush toilets for the entire school. Admission is 10c and 15c.

Come and bring your whole family and your neighbor and his whole family.

SIXTH GRADE NEWS

We are studying about communications in our social studies. We start with the cave man and other primitive men and are going on down to modern ways of communication. The way they first communicated with others was with signals. After that they started picture writing. Then the Phoenicians gave us our first alphabet.

Now we are studying about paper and newspapers. We have published one issue of a newspaper called "Sixth Grade Hi-Lights." We had lots of fun doing it. Members of our staff are: Editor-in-chief, Boots Beasley; assistant editor, James Austin Tucker; business manager, Paul Womack; joke editor, Sara Jo Crumley; society editor, Ida Belle Ackerman.

The October meeting of the Denmark Demonstration Club was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. W. DeLoach with Mrs. J. L. Latzak and Mrs. J. H. Ginn as joint hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Zetterower and family and Mrs. W. W. Jones and daughter, Billie Jean, attended services at Elmer church Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Zetterower Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Zetterower Sr.

A number of farmers and their families met in the auditorium of Denmark school Friday night to organize a Farm Bureau for the Denmark community. David Rucker was elected president, J. A. Denmark vice-president, and R. P. Miller secretary and treasurer. Prior to the business meeting Byron Dyer, county agent, entertained with a picture show, after which he and David Rucker had charge of the meeting. About thirty-five people were present.

LOCAL BOY SCOUTS TO ATTEND CAMP

Spend Present Week End In Camporee At Their Club House Near Metter

Many Boy Scouts of the Coastal Empire Council will join the Scouts of Bulloch and Candler counties in the first inter-district camporee ever to be staged in this area.

A camporee is an over-night (or two-night) camp in which Scouts demonstrate their camping ability. It is usually held on a pioneer camping location where Scouts may live in the "rough."

The program, starting at 1:30 on Saturday and continuing until 3:30 Sunday, will include contests, projects and games featuring the use of the many skills learned in the Scout program and activities. Features of the program will be the Saturday night campfire, conducted by Scout Executive Ken Davis; the Sunday morning church services conducted by Rev. Bernard Brown, of Metter; the mystery hike conducted by Dr. Paradis, of Metter, and the nature hike conducted by L. A. Hunnicutt, Metter.

During their stay at the camporee each patrol of Scouts will be graded from time to time, and at the end they will be classified as class A, B or C camporee patrols. The activities to be judged are tent-pitching, cooking, selection of camp sites, participation in program events, etc. The patrol earning the highest score will receive a camporee insignia.

Parents and friends of Scouts are invited to visit the site to observe the activities on Sunday morning.

Units Are Formed For Test Farming

The twelve unit test farms in Bulloch county are fertilizing their small grains at planting time with 100 pounds of triple-superphosphate, 48 per cent, and 40 pounds of ammonia nitrate, which is 32.5 per cent. This is the equivalent of about 300 pounds of acid phosphate and 80 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre at planting time.

These twelve farms are following the recommendations of the TVA and Extension Service in planting winter legumes and small grains. They will be provided with an additional 100 pounds of nitrate for a top dressing. Farmers co-operating with the Extension Service and TVA on these unit test farms are John H. Olliff, Frank Simmons, E. L. Womack, Henry S. Blitch, Robbie Becker, C. M. Graham, J. E. Hodges, L. C. Nesmith, W. C. Hodges, Paul F. Groover, W. Eugene Deal and W. H. Smith Jr.

"We Believe In The South!"

As never before in our history, opportunity today is beckoning throughout the South. Our new industrial plants, our newly acquired skills, our increased prosperity and our determination that these gains shall not be lost mean that the South is facing a brilliant future.

- One of the greatest of the South's opportunities lies in the dairy industry.
- Today we are importing many millions of dollars worth of dairy products from other sections of the nation.
- Tomorrow the South's millions of fertile acres will produce all of these dairy products—and, further, will yield an added abundance to send elsewhere.
- We believe in the South! Since Foremost Dairies was established 15 years ago we have worked unstintingly to help build the area we serve. We support Southern business and industry. We not only make all possible purchases from Southern farmers, but spend large sums of money to help them improve their milk cattle and to produce better products.
- We are part of the South, and we have a stake in the South's great future. So firmly do we believe in the limitless possibilities of that future that we predict the near arrival of a day when the South shall have a position of indisputable economic leadership—especially in the dairy industry.
- And we pledge now the continued application of our experience, our energies and our resources to the end that the South's vast opportunities may be fully and quickly developed.
- We believe in the South!

PORTAL YOUNG MAN RECEIVE HIS TRAINING

Walter Woods Jr., 20 Portal, Ga., is receiving his initial naval instruction at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

His recruit training consists of instruction in seamanship, military drill and general naval procedure. During this period a series of aptitude tests will be taken by the recruit to determine whether he will be assigned to a Naval Service School or to immediate duty at sea.

When his recruit training is completed, the seaman will receive a period of leave.

Sandridge Group Adopt Program

The Rural Life Club met at New Sandridge junior high school Wednesday, October 17, with President Jackson in the chair. After devotion the club unanimously agreed to assist in the work of building sanitary lavatories on the school campus.

G. Thomas Merritt gave a short experiment showing that if a farmer plows a cover crop on his farm his land would be protected from erosion and would support the owner and keep up his economic standard.

Miss Bowen, the home demonstration agent, was introduced. In a brief outline she presented a picture to the women showing how old things could be made into new and useful articles. She explained how screening would help to protect the family health.

Mr. Groover endorsed all that had been said and mentioned how the lessons on sanitation. He also spoke on how important it was to screen the homes and improve our 40-year idea. He closed his talk with a little quotation, "I pass this way but once, therefore if there is anything I show to any human, doing any kindness that I can do, let it not be deferred nor neglected. I shall not pass this way again."

The club unanimously agreed with Miss Bowen to meet with the women November 1st.

JAMES JACKSON, President, G. THOS. MERRITT, Advisor, H. HALL, Secretary.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite and digestion. * This help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2. Started 3 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional causes. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.
